"Bells Across The Nation"

Michigan National Guard units will join local American Legion Commanders in the promotion of Patriot's Day, April 19, Major General Ronald D. McDonald, The Adjutant General of Michigan, announced today.

The American Legion is urging the ringing of bells on Patriot's Day as a dramatic demonstration of a dynamic conviction of Americanism to dispel all doubt concerning America's unity.

"I have requested Guard commanders throughout the state to lend all possible assistance in this very worthwhile project of the American Legion," General McDonald said.

Patriot's Day is the anniversary of the Battles of Lexington and Concord. It also commemorates the alarm sounded on that date by Paul Revere and his lesser-known but equally effective colleague on horseback, William Dawes.

National Guardsmen trace their history to the Minutemen of Lexington and Concord who were America's first citizen-soldiers to face enemy fire in defense of their liberties.

Admiral Arleigh A. Burke, USN, retired, has been appointed Chairman of the National "Bells Across the Nation" Committee. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has accepted appointment to the national committee.

American Legion Post Commanders will ask local organizations to help plan community participation in the project.

Local observances in Michigan will coincide with those of thousands of other cities, towns, and villages throughout the nation where church bells, school bells, carillons, chimes, etc., will ring out in unison, giving dramatic emphasis to America's declaration of national unity.

"Paul Revere and the World He Lived In"

The years that preceded the American Revolution were years of mounting hate and fury. Though out these years Paul Revere lived at the point of flame. Steady dependable, indefatigable his was the brain and hand that organized the mechanics of Boston and Patriot cause.

Paul Revere was the typical ingenious man of his period, the buoyant and versatile Yankee who could ride express for the Committee of Safety, make beautiful silver of his period, roll copper and engrave copperplate, carve false teeth, set up a powder mill, command an artillery regiment, cast cannons or bells and print money. The story of his life is the story of the Revolution.

This book, we believe, is more than the life of Paul Revere. It is a picture more vivid and intimate than has ever been drawn of the little eighteenth century city of Boston. It is a panorama of royal governors and their redcoats, John Hancock with his fine house horses and waistcoats, Sam Adams, honest little John Adams; tar and feather tea parties, the hungry days of the siege and the years of the young republic.

By patient research, Esther Forbes has brought to life both Paul Revere and the world he lived in. This book is available at the Crawford County Library.

RADKA REPORTS ON CON-CON

The proposal to adjourn the Convention until fall was, as I predicted last week, generally regarded as absurd. The proposal did bring into sharp focus the obvious fact that time for completion of the Convention work is running out.

The schedule of Convention sessions was changed. Several of you have stated you get confused as to when we meet. The schedule has been changed so often because we are looking for the magic combination which will hasten our work. Our pace does not seem to increase despite adding night sessions, lengthening day sessions and increasing caucuses. The new schedule calls for a Monday session from 8:30 to 10:00 p.m. Tuesday through Friday from 9:00 until 6:00 and also a Wednesday night session.

This past week revealed the obvious logic of the delegates and the employees. This might be tied to the coming of Spring and our not being able to see the end of the Convention work.

We almost finished round one of the Executive Branch Committee proposals Friday. We then passed over the last proposal until Tuesday because there were delegates opposed to the civil rights compromise proposal as passed. There had been a consensus of opinion among the Republican delegates on this problem which was surprisingly upset on the floor by Republican leaders. This led to the reaction by many to "dump" the compromise package. Although this group was referred to in the news as the "farm bloc" on this issue the delegates are the ones who put the strong civil rights position taken by George Romney, John Martin and others who are looking for any excuse to "dump" the package so they can join with the Democrats and provide for the election of the State Highway Commissioner and other administrative board members. I share Delegate Drake and Dehnke's position that there may be several proposals and political maneuvers we don't like but we must try to stay with the compromise position because it would be impossible to pick up all the pieces and put them together again in any semblance of order.

The civil rights commission problem was debated exhaustively. Few delegates were opposed to the creation of a commission. It was who would create it and give it powers which presented the problem. Two prominent Democratic delegates, Norris and Nord, proposed that there be a commission established by the Constitution and the legislature implement its functions. The Republicans in caucus almost unanimously endorsed this proposal. Then on the floor the Austin amendment was offered which would create the commission and spell out in the Constitution its functions. Support came for this proposal from unexpected sources and many delegates felt the support was for political purposes and was provoked since the understanding that had been reached in support of the Norris-Nord amendment was ignored.

I was appointed to the committee to attempt to restore mutual understanding between those who want the commission's duties and powers spelled out in the Constitution and those who would leave this to the Legislature.

STATE POLICE SGT. URGES PARENTS TO WARN CHILDREN

Since child molestation complaints increase at this time of the year, parents should strongly warn their children against accepting lures of strangers to go for walks or rides, says Sgt. Donald Bobo, commanding officer of the Houghton Lake post of the Michigan State Police.

This cautionary advice, given now and occasionally repeated, might prevent some child from suffering an experience which could bright his or her life and even result in injury or death, he emphasizes.

Records of previous years show that child molesting complaints begin to increase in the spring, reach a peak during the summer months, and taper off when schools resume.

"Warn your children to have nothing to do with strangers. That's the safest rule for them to follow," Sgt. Bobo advises. "Urge them to tell you right away if any stranger approaches and tries to lure them with candy or other things to go for walks or rides."

In 1961 there were 593 sex offense complaints, which include child molesting, that were investigated by the State Police. This was 12, or two per cent, more than in the previous year.

Highest incidence of these complaints was in August with 84. July was next highest with 66. May-third with 57, September-fourth with 54 and June fifth with 53. No month had less than 32.

Fear of embarrassing publicity makes some parents reluctant to report molestation incidents to the police. This is unfortunate because it increases the difficulty in coping with these situations.

Names of children molested and their parents, however, are not used by the press, radio and television except when necessary in cases of severe emergency, such as abduction or murder. If all incidents were reported, police would have a chance of apprehending the offenders and curtailing such offenses, Sgt. Bobo says. Lack of such reporting may encourage the molester to strike again.

Children should be assured that policemen are friends who want to help and protect them. They should be encouraged to notify police of any strangers loitering around playgrounds, schools, public rest rooms or in the neighborhood.

Following are suggested rules for children:

1. Don't talk to strangers or accept any offer of money, candy or gifts to go for a walk or ride with them.

2. Report to your parents, police or teacher any suspicious stranger who tries to join you or your group.

3. Stay with playmates when outdoors. Don't play or walk alone in alleys, deserted buildings or other secluded areas.

4. Don't go alone to the movies, fairs or carnivals. Try to have at least one companion wherever you go.

5. Keep a safe distance from the road so that a stranger in a passing car cannot easily reach out and seize you.

6. Don't loiter in public rest rooms. These are danger spots.

7. These rules are for your protection. Don't let anyone persuade you to disobey them. If you have a question or problem, tell your parents.

by We Fall Behind . . .

Almost everyone agrees this country is falling behind in economic growth. Most of the other Western industrial nations are exceeding us, some by large margins. In those nations, generally, there is a shortage of workers — we face an unemployment problem.

Why should this be so? A summing up in the March issue of U. S. News & World Report provides some of the big reasons.

One is corporation taxes, which are so high as to stroy incentive. Only Britain, with a 53.75 per cent x, exceeds our tax of 52 per cent.

Another is double taxation of dividends — once at the corporation level, then, the second time, at the individual income level. U. S. stockholders are given a miserly 4 per cent tax credit, and there is even a movement to eliminate that. In the other Western nations, dividends ranging from 17.5 per cent to more than 33 per cent are given to stockholders for taxes paid or withheld by corporations. Thus, new investment, new pourings of financial lifeblood into their economies, is encouraged.

A third is the capital gains tax — and here, says U. S. News, "this country's rules are stiffer than those of any other major nation." Indeed, in most of the other countries only the capital gains of professional traders are taxed at all.

Finally, depreciation of plant and equipment, for tax purposes, is much more restricted here than elsewhere. Add that fact to the vastly increased costs of new tools — and the result is increasing industrial obsolescence.

We are falling behind, comparatively, in economic growth — and the primary reason is destructive tax laws and policies.

The Automobile Industry

It was recently estimated the average motorist spends $36 per week on his car.
This includes the financed purchase price, annual depreciation,
insurance, and of course oil and

The fact this represents more money than many families spend on their homes indicates how important the automobile has become to all of us. Its importance has made the car industry the largest single business in the country by far.

It is possible for the average motorist to get more value out of his automobile than he now does. We think so. So we're planning to devote this space each week to some plain talk about the automobile business.

How can a motorist deal most wisely who is trading in his old car on a new one? Or make the even more difficult decision of what used car to buy? And how can he get the most performance satisfaction out of the car he now has?

The industry is changing rapidly, even for our changing world. Being on the inside lookout would like to share some of our knowledge of this business with you. We're sure a lot of it can be shed on a problem by discussing it honestly.

We hope, as we go along, we'll make a friend of many of you. And perhaps you'll see fit to deal with us. But whether you do or not, we know you'll find most of what we have to say both interesting and helpful. See you next week.

Machine Age Eliminating Horse Here

(Special to the Avalanche) New York — Horses are becoming more and more of a rarity in Crawford County.

On the local farms, where they were once the basic source of power for plowing, harrowing and hauling, they are rapidly vanishing from sight.

Since 1954, the horse and mule population of the county has dropped from 78 to 49.

The change is reported in the latest U. S. Census of Agriculture, the results of which have just been made public.

It shows that the trend is in the direction in nearly every part of the country and that it has been in process for some time. In some areas it is proceeding more rapidly than in others.

Throughout the United States, the number of horses and mules on farms has been reduced from a peak of 25 million to a mere 3 million in a period of 30 years. In the last 5 years alone, there has been a 28 percent reduction.

In Crawford County, the five-year drop amounted to 39 percent. It was 16 percent in the State of Michigan.

The Government states that horses have become such an unimportant element in agriculture today that it will discontinue making its annual survey of the number of work animals in use.

The explanation lies in the economic changes that have been taking place in farming in recent years. Technological progress has made horsepower and much hand labor obsolete. For efficient operation, use of power machines has been mandatory. They have made it possible for a farmer to reduce the number of his hired hands and, at the same time, to greatly increase output.

The Census of Agriculture shows how the machine age is taking hold in Crawford County. The number of tractors of all types on local farms now amounts to 20.

Similar increases have been noted in the number of motor vehicles and in other mechanical and labor-saving equipment per farm.

Progress in the direction of pushbutton farming continues year by year as bigger and more versatile machines make their appearance, enabling the farmer to operate many more acres than formerly and to care for more livestock.

Grayling Moose Lodge 1162 has been in process to get an active Boy Scout troop started. Some weeks ago, Mr. Wesley Quant, Jr., met with the officers at the Moose Lodge to set up the troop. It was decided that Walt Confer, present governor of the lodge would be institutional representative. Dick Johnson, chairman, Curtis Miner, Carl Kellogg and Dick Bunker, committee men, Hank Feldhauser, scoutmaster and Pete Lindstrom and Bryan Ashton, assistant scout masters.

One of the beginning projects was the cutting of cedar boughs with axes and hatchets.
The boys would like to give their thanks to Mr. Don Bartholomew of Glen's Market and Jack Wilson of the Black & White for donating the food. After cutting feed for the deer, the boys consumed some 70 hot dogs, 2 gallons of hot chocolate, beans and marshmallows which they cooked over an open camp fire. "Afterward followed a mighty snowball battle between the boys and their leaders, with the boys proving that they had a better eye. The deer response was tremendous so the boys went out again 2 weeks later.

This time they hiked the 8 miles and after having had some experience in the arts of cooking, they prepared beef stew and the adult leaders report that it was mighty tasty.

The boys main project now is to get uniforms and camping equipment for future outings. The Women of the Moose are planning a smorgasbord benefit dinner. All proceeds will be given to this project. The date will be published when plans have been completed.

Bits O' Talk

Mr. and Mrs. Biner Rasmussen arrived home Wednesday last after spending the winter with their son Bob and family in Corona, Calif. Mrs. Rasmussen had the misfortune to break her left arm in a fall just before coming home. The Rasmussens accompanied their daughter and family, the Don Ors and children of Traverse City, who had spent two weeks in California with them and drove them home.

Ray Scott's Dining Terrace on the North Branch in Lovells will open for the season at 1:00 p. m. on Easter Sunday, April 22nd. Mrs. Olin Williamson was in Bay City Thursday for the day.

Mrs. Harold Rasmussen and Mrs. William Lauran returned home April 8th after spending the winter in Van Nuys, Calif., with Mrs. B. L. Konneker, Mrs. Maude Aberle and Miss Laura Rasmussen, and visiting in Corona, Calif., and Reno, Nev. The ladies accompanied Mrs. Jack Rasmussen and her brother Billy Harwood, who had taken Mrs. Willard Harwood and daughter Jill to Detroit on their way to Washington, D. C., and returned here that Sunday. Mrs. Rasmussen and Mrs. Lauran visited from Wednesday, the 4th to Sunday, the 8th. Mrs. Rasmussen's aunt, Mrs. Anna Montour, in Inkster, and the Howard Scarlets, in Detroit respectively. Clair's Standard Service, 409 Cedar Street, is open 24 hours a day.

Kay Jansen, daughter of the Don Jansens, was confirmed at the Grayling Evangelical Lutheran church Palm Sunday. Afterwards family and friends gathered at the Jansen home for dinner, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. William Horn, Mrs. Richard Peters and Kathleen, the John Lists and three children, all of Saginaw, the Charles and Wilfred Jansen families of Roscommon, the Glen Nolans and Barbara Crouch of Lake Margaret, and TV will close Wednesday afternoons instead of Thursday. Store hours otherwise are from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

A clipping from the St. Petersburg Times of April 9th states that Willard Cornell, Grayling, scored a hole in one at the Twin Brooks course yesterday, using the 100-yard par 3 using a 9 iron. Word from Norman McCabe says to transfer his paper from St. Petersburg, Fla., back to Star Route, so we assume he will be back at McMaister's Bridge this week.

Grayling Restaurant will reopen Thursday, April 26th. Walter Truettner while driving west on M-72 last week saw two good-sized dogs running deer. The animals were too far away to identify but it points out the need to watch where your own dog is at all times.

Cleaning only, 8 lbs. for $1.50. We clean, you press. Gould Cleaners.

The Dr. J. F. Cooks and the A. J. Sorensons and Marda returned home Wednesday last from vacationing a few weeks at Treasure Island, Fla. The Dr. Leonard Allison returned home the previous week. They had also been at Treasure Island.

Upon your 17-55 you may not see it, but it is a good sign. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Larson and son Jerry left Sunday, the 8th, for Dearborn, where they stayed with the Nelson Vollmers while Jerry made application with the Air Force. He was accepted Wednesday of last week, and left that night by plane for Lackland AFB, Texas, for boot training. Meanwhile the Larsons received a phone call from their son-in-law, Vern Essenberg at Kalamazoo, where their daughter Judy had given birth to a 6 pound 11 ounce son on Monday, April 9th, at Bronson Methodist Hospital. The baby is named James Vern. Mr. Larson returned home Wednesday of last week, and Mrs. Larson went to Kalamazoo to stay for a week with her daughter and family. Mr. Larson plans to pick her up Friday of this week.

Wharf's Dinner Bell Inn will open soon. Watch for announcement advertisement.

EASTER SEAL DRIVE IN FINAL WEEK

This week is the final one in the annual Easter Seal fund drive for aid to crippled children and adults. "To help them live like others" summarizes the nationwide program of treatment and rehabilitation which has guided Easter Seal societies in its more than 40 years of service. Through skilled professional workers, directed by medical leaders, the crippled receive medical diagnosis, therapy, special education, psychological and social services, sheltered employment and other services required to aid in their rehabilitation. The Crawford County Chapter is an affiliate of the National Society.

Drive Chairman Lora Gould reminds bowlers that they can help a crippled child to camp this summer with the purchase of a three-game bowling card at the local alleys.

Donations to the fund drive will be accepted even after the Easter deadline, if you have been unable to contribute before then.
